In Reg. v. Guest it was held that in a rate upon buildings to which machinery is attached, the real property ought to be assessed according to its value as combined with the machinery, without regard as to whether the machinery was real or personal property so as to be liable to distress or seizure under a fi. fa., or whether it would descend to the heir or executor, or would belong, at the expiration of a lease, to the landlord or the tenant. This rule was again affirmed in Regina v. Southampton Dock Company, in which it had been expressly found by the Sessions, that the fixtures in question, although attached to the freehold, were capable of being...
